UK in top 10 for HIV best practice, says new EU Index

Brussels, October 13, 2009

The care and conditions for people living with HIV/AIDS in UK are good but could improve, said the Euro HIV Index (EHIVI) 2009 which was presented today in Brussels. This first survey of HIV policy and best practice ranked the UK 9th out of 29 countries, scoring 741 points from a potential 1,000. Luxembourg wins the ranking with 857 points followed by Malta (791) and Switzerland (775).

"UK does well on access to HIV care and has good prevention programs, which might be reasons for the relatively low prevalence of HIV, considering the high immigration rates from HIV high-risk parts of the world. However, the UK should raise the number of HIV patients screened for STI and hepatitis. PLWH (people living with HIV) are reported to face discrimination, especially in schools and at work, and also by non-HIV doctors or dentists." states Dr. Beatriz Cebolla, the Euro HIV Index Director. "Including sex education as a compulsory part of the national curriculum in primary and secondary schools is already under government plans, expected by 2010, which is vital also in order to reduce teen pregnancy rates and sexually transmitted diseases."

While the number of people living with HIV increases in every member state of the EU, budgets in several countries are reduced. Sexual risk behaviour is becoming more and more regular practice. Criminalization of HIV is a problem in many countries, and still HIV specific legislation exists in some countries; people can get prosecuted also for unintentionally and unknowingly transmitting the virus. The access to care for marginalized groups such as undocumented migrants is not guaranteed almost anywhere in Europe. Discrimination and stigma against PLWH is frequent at work and in schools. Harm reduction strategies in prisons are still weakly implemented, especially in the Eastern European countries. There is a general lack of leadership in HIV management and no government seems to know the true number of HIV-infected inhabitants. The main conclusion of the HIV Index is that there is still a lot to do.

About the Index

The EHIVI ranks the HIV situation across 28 indicators, covering 4 areas that are key to HIV: Involvement and rights, Access, Prevention, and Outcomes. The Euro HIV Index is compiled from a combination of public statistics, patient polls and independent research conducted by the founder, the Brussels-based think tank Health Consumer Powerhouse. The EHIVI 2009 takes a patient centred position. The Index is being held in association with the Swedish EU presidency of autumn 2009. It has received an unrestricted educational grant by Gilead Research.
